OFFICERS SAY NOTHING IN IT FORCES LAY UP FOR BATTLE

Newspaper Story at Ogden Revives Interest in Clark Murder Mystery.

A local paper revives interest in the murder of Seymour L. Clark by publishing the statement of Mr. and Mrs. John Gale of Utah. The story is to the effect that James Hartwell, who was found in an unconscious condition near Roy soon after the murder of Clark, visited Gale's house in October and asked for something to eat. He offered in payment a breastpin. This happened a few days after a burglary in Ogden. It is said that Hartwell gave the full name to Mrs. Gale at the time, inquired as to the officers of the town, and when told they consisted of a justice of the peace and constable, remarked that it should be easy to pull off a trick there.

Saw the Man in Disguise.
Gale says he afterwards met Hartwell near Utah in disguise. He says the next time he saw Hartwell was the day after the night of the murder of Clark. He said that at that time Hartwell made arrangements with him to haul a load of shoes from Utah to a point in the canyon, and it was understood that Gale was to keep "mum." Hartwell, he says, boarded a freight train for the one o'clock train. The description Gale gives of Hartwell tallies with that given by Deputy Sheriff Murphy of the man who killed Clark.

Gale also tells of Hartwell buying a revolver; he tells of him and his wife meeting him in Ogden the day after the murder, and of their recognizing each other; he also tells of calling at the hospital and recognizing Hartwell as the man who was at his home.

Nothing in Story.
Local officers were inclined to place credence in Gale's story at first, but after a thorough investigation they reached the conclusion that there was nothing in it. They now declare it to be without foundation in fact, so far as having a bearing on the murder is concerned. They are not following up on the Gale lead further, but are still hard at work on the case.

Funeral of Mrs. Hornsby.
Funeral services in honor of Mrs. Mary Ann Hornsby, who died in Salt Lake City Tuesday last, were held in the South Mountain funeral home yesterday afternoon. The service was presided over by Bishop Stearns Hatch. The music rendered by the choir was given by Joseph Hornsby, William Stearns, Joseph Hornsby, William Stearns, Joseph Hornsby, William Stearns, Joseph Hornsby, William Stearns. The meeting house was packed by friends and relatives. The interment was in the Ogden City cemetery.

Address by Dr. Talmage.
Dr. James E. Talmage of the University of Utah addressed a large congregation in the Ogden tabernacle yesterday afternoon. His subject was "An Up-to-date Religion," and his address was a defense of Mormonism.

Hospital Nurse-Matron Gives Valuable Recipe for Constipation, Liver Trouble and Piles.

A trained nurse and matron of one of New York's large hospitals gives valuable advice for the treatment of constipation and the prevention of contagious and infectious diseases. She says: "Intestinal indigestion, dyspepsia, wind and gas on stomach and bowels, biliousness, heartburn, head pain, palpitation, piles and painful evacuations are directly due to it, while all the fevers and contagions are more likely to attack the constipated individual. Children are robbed of health and brain power by these poisons. Mothers, never permit any member of your family to be constipated 24 hours, and you doctor bills. Use the following prescription: Get one ounce aromatic fluid cascara, one ounce compound essence sarsaparilla, and two ounces aromatic syrup rhubarb. Mix, and adults take 1/2 to 2 tea-spoonsful after each meal, and children five drops to a teaspoonful, according to age. I think every intelligent family should keep this in the home."

Petitions Being Circulated in Weber County Both For and Against Prohibition.

There is to be a fight to a finish between the friends and enemies of prohibition in this community in the next few weeks. The forces are lining up in fine style, and the outlook is that every voter will be on record on one side or the other before the end is reached.

Yesterday petitions calling upon the members of the legislature from Weber county to support prohibition were circulated in all the churches. They were extensively signed, and the friends of the measure now before the legislature assert that they have a majority of the Weber county voters recorded on their side of the controversy.

At the same time the friends of the saloon are not idle. Protests against prohibition are being circulated extensively, and the claim is made that many are attaching their signatures. Copies of this protest are in the hands of a majority of the saloon keepers and others interested in the liquor business.

OGDEN POSTOFFICE TO BE TRANSFERRED TODAY

L. W. Shurtliff's Commission Did Not Arrive As Soon as Expected.

William Glasmann's official career as postmaster of Ogden was supposed to have ended at midnight last night. As a matter of fact, it did not end because of the failure to arrive of the commission of L. W. Shurtliff, the new postmaster. All arrangements have been made to transfer the office today. Assistant Postmaster Rufus A. Gardner has been selected to take the property of Uncle Sam and take Postmaster Shurtliff's receipts for it, when it was discovered that the commission failed to arrive in the mail from the east. The storm in the east have interfered with the transportation of mail, but it is expected that the transfer of the postoffice will take place today.

Mr. Glasmann's career in the postoffice for the past two years and four months has been a stormy one, and his bitter enemies are willing to concede that he earned his salary of $2,300 a year. His commission dates from Oct. 1, 1906, when he secured the office through the influence of Congressman Joseph Howell. No sooner had his appointment been announced than vigorous protests and charges went flying to Washington. A special representative of the postoffice department was sent to Ogden to investigate the matter. The representative of the postoffice department was sent to Ogden to investigate the matter. The representative of the postoffice department was sent to Ogden to investigate the matter.

The case then resolved itself into a question of the one side and Walter Richey, Frank R. Clayton and other players in the postoffice on the other. The result was that the inspector who had the case in hand recommended that Glasmann be separated from public service, and his resignation followed.

The new postmaster will not be in a position to make any removals or should he feel inclined to do so, because all of the employees in the postoffice are protected in their positions by the civil service rules. TAKEN TO PROVE HOSPITAL

Dominic Pantone a Raving Manic and Obedient Authorities Could No Longer Care for Him.

Dominic Pantone has finally found lodgment in the state mental hospital at Provo. He was taken there yesterday by Deputy Sheriff John Murphy and Officer Bob Burke of the police force, after all doubts had been removed as to his insanity. In response to the earnest solicitation of the physician called in to try him on the charge of insanity, Pantone was released Saturday from the custody of the sheriff, and placed in a private sanitarium. It was not many hours until he was back in the county jail, having become so violent that it was impossible to keep him under control by ordinary means. Late that night he became a raving maniac, so much so that it became necessary to put him into the padded cell and put the "muff" on his hands to keep him from killing himself. Yesterday it was finally decided that it was dangerous to keep him in the mental hospital, and he was placed in charge of a nurse to await developments. In the night he escaped from the nurse and made his way to the county jail. In the jail he tore the insanity cell to pieces before he could be brought under subjection.

Lecture Tonight.
Russell H. Conwell will lecture tonight at the Weber academy, his subject being "Acres of Diamonds." This is the sixth number in the regular academy lecture course. Mr. Conwell is popular in Ogden, where he is regarded as one of the strong men on the lecture platform today.

WATER RATES UP FOR FINAL ACTION

Council to Pass on New Ordinance Increasing Meter Rates for Commercial Purposes.

The new water ordinance is the only special feature scheduled for the regular meeting of the city council this evening. This ordinance has already received its first reading and since then the city council has been busy with the railroad and other heavy users of water and promised a rate for commercial purpose of 6 cents a thousand gallons and for domestic use 7 cents per 1,000 gallons. As this was decided upon by the committee of the whole council it will doubtless be passed by the council in general session. There are, however, some features of the ordinance which may evoke considerable discussion.

The new ordinance increases the rates for water to meter users from 34 cents per 1,000 gallons to 6 cents a thousand gallons. This ordinance will make water a trifle more expensive to the household. One of these is the clause providing that the property owner must pay for the connections, which have been hitherto made by the city.

The question of revoking the license for a saloon at 60 West South Temple will come before the council. Councilman John Holley went on the salooning trip with Councilman E. S. Fernstrom a few weeks ago and the charges against him were kept up until he appeared at the last meeting, but was given an additional week.

The budget for the ensuing year should be ready for presentation to the council this evening, but the board of estimates and appropriations has been slow in coming up with its report. Unless its work is concluded this afternoon the appropriations will not come up for another week at least.

The annual report of the city auditor is not anything like the report that the treasurer has made. The treasurer's report is a masterpiece of brevity and to the point. The annual report of the city auditor is not anything like the report that the treasurer has made. The treasurer's report is a masterpiece of brevity and to the point.

City Recorder John B. Moreton will not grace the meeting of the council this evening. He is expected to leave for New York at noon today to take on the $50,000 worth of bonds to be delivered to the purchasers of the issue. He will be replaced by his chief deputy, H. S. Rives. The recorder will be absent at least ten days, the delivery of the bonds providing a nice little junket for the official. Recorder Moreton is somewhat annoyed that the newspapers have chronicled the fact that he is going to carry with him so many valuable securities and has already begun to fear that confidence men will be waiting for him at the depot of the cities in which he will stop.

A few weeks ago at the meeting of the council a resolution was introduced by Councilman L. E. Hall which was designed to help throw some light on the now unexplained report made each month by the city auditor should each day furnish to the treasurer the amount of the warrants issued and the amount of the outstanding warrants against each fund in his report. The city treasurer is anxious that the report be made each month by the city auditor should each day furnish to the treasurer the amount of the warrants issued and the amount of the outstanding warrants against each fund in his report.

There are a few dozen or so petitions of property owners for improvements for which they are to pay. These were referred to the finance committee or to the board of estimates and appropriations. There seems to be a little likelihood that any extensive work in which the city will have a liability will be ordered soon.

THE GREATEST SALE OF MUSLIN UNDERWEAR and INFANT'S FURNISHINGS

The Sale That Overshadows Them All

Starts This Morning, February 1

Underwear offerings that far surpass even our own unrivaled bargains of the past. We have never had a collection of high class garments to equal this one; never had such qualities at such advantageous prices. The construction of our goods, down to the minutest detail of stitching and finish, is perfect. Nothing less than that would satisfy us or our customers. The Salt Lake public knows too well the character of the Auerbach Muslin Underwear Sales to need any comment on this one. But this year's stock is much more desirable than any heretofore shown, because the makers had finer materials at lower prices to work with. This sale is proof positive of our ability and determination to undersell everybody.

BOISE PAPER BUILDS A ROAD

Details of Enterprise Cannot Be Placed Before the Public at Present.

(Special to The Herald.)
Boise, Jan. 31.—The Statesman tomorrow will say: "A Boise railroad, built by Boise initiative and sufficient finance by Boise capital to induce out-of-pocket already heavily interested in the city and the surrounding country, to invest liberally in the enterprise."
That route summarizes the most feasible and most substantial railroad proposition that has yet taken form. Complete details of the undertaking cannot be made public at this time for obvious reasons, but it can be advanced to cause a most optimistic view to be taken of the project, not only on the part of local business men, but by eastern capitalists, who are now identified with the business, who have had wide experience in such matters and who declare that the Boise railroad project is one of the most attractive they have had called to their attention.
Powerful interests are already assigned and others will be expected, soon have affairs so shaped up that more detailed information can be made public.
Country to Be Traversed.
The projected line will traverse the rich Carey tract and the reclaimed lands to the east of Boise, notably the Twin Falls, the Minidoka and the King Hill.
Two routes are now under discussion to the Twin Falls boundary. One of these contemplates an interconnection with the Short Line of Montana, proceeding thence to the Bureau country, crossing the Snake. Following along the south side of the Snake and through a territory soon to be opened up under the Carey act, the line would again cross the Snake and run to Boise, thence to Jerome, thence to the Minidoka tract, south to Albion and following the flat river and crossing the divide, strike the Southern Pacific at Mount, a short distance east of Kelton, thence skirting the Great Salt Lake to Ogden.
The other route takes the line from Boise through Little Camas prairie to Gooding, thence to Jerome and then on as heretofore described.
In addition to local interests, prominent men identified with the irrigation enterprise, interurban railroads and other developments in this part of Idaho are interesting themselves in the project. The interurban company, centering in Boise, will, aside from identifying themselves with the Boise-Ogden road, make important extensions westward of Boise to extend the Boise interurban company's line to Payette, via New Plymouth, with a spur from Payette to Ontario, Ore. An extension from Payette to Weiser is also included in the present plans.
The continued project would place Boise in easy touch with the great and growing territory to the east, notably Twin Falls and Minidoka, with the Payette & Idaho Northern railroad territory and the field between here and Weiser, with the Oregon country south of Ontario. Besides the distance to Ogden would be decreased a hundred miles.
